Are you interested in the conservation of the Earth's biological diversity? Would you like to meet like-minded people and hear about the work being done in the Sydney Region and beyond?

Conservation Café is a monthly event hosted by the Sydney Society for Conservation Biology to celebrate and learn about the incredible work being done by our region's conservation professionals and volunteers over a cup of coffee and a chat.

This December, Sydney-SCB welcomes Eleonora Bergamaschini, volunteer coordinator, and several active volunteers from The Wilderness Society.

Eleonora and Co will tell us about the new leadership model and way of defending Australian environment that The Wilderness Society has adopted recently. This new system integrates to the traditional public policy and campaigning structure with community organising principles to build capacity and community support. With practical examples from the recent People's Climate March and directly from volunteers' voices we will learn how this new system works and its potential.

In addition, Eleonora will tell us how we can get involved and how your network can contribute from this system. A lot of organisations are currently taking up this new leadership model and it will be very useful to learn about how it works and how to use it.

Complimentary tea, coffee and pastries provided by Sydney-SCB with re-usable cups available for purchase with proceeds going towards our conservation projects.

About Sydney-SCB: The Sydney-Society for Conservation is a regional chapter of the global Society for Conservation Biology, and the third chapter formed in the Oceania Region. Our mission is to advance the science and practice of conserving the biological diversity of the Sydney Region and beyond.
