

We are glad to announce the first edition of the Animal Behaviour Live: Annual Online Conference that will take place on YouTube on the 20th and 21st of August 2020.

With this conference, we aim to connect with otherwise difficult to reach researchers from all continents, and to reduce gender and nation inequalities while favouring the attendance of researchers with child care, family or personal duties.

www.animalbehaviour.live

call for abstract submit by June 30

Abstract submission is now opened for 24 short talks, and 50 virtual posters.

Although the conference is free of cost, and number of place to attend unlimited, the registration is mandatory.

registration deadline
August 10

For more information, please visit and follow our different platforms:  @animalbehaviourlive  @animalbehavlive

Animal Behaviour Live